

Personalized Health Care... As It Should Be

Providing superior medical care for the entire family with a focus on personal attention is the mantra for Dr. Michael Gallops and Dr. Robert Korolevich. While both physicians have been practicing medicine in Naples for a total of 20 combined years, they have dedicated their new practice to the development of a personal relationship between the patient and the physician.

Their new type of practice, sometimes referred to as a concierge or boutique practice, is a new health care alternative focused on providing superior medical care for the entire family with an emphasis on personal attention.

By limiting the number of patients in their practice and increasing patient, doctor and staff involvement, they are improving the delivery of medical care and treatment.

By allowing the physician to spend more time with each patient, the result is a higher level of care and the development of a personal relationship between the patient and the physician, as it was meant to be.

For their patients convenience, they offer 24 hour a day, seven day a week access to the physicians, extended appointment times with little or no waiting, same day appointments, evening and weekend care, personalized patient education, complete coordination of care with specialists and ancillary service providers, family and executive healthcare, and a friendly and caring staff who knows you as an individual.

Both Dr. Gallops and Dr. Korolevich are Board Certified by the American Academy of Family Practice Physicians and have active staff privileges at Naples Community Hospital and North Collier Hospital.

They invite you to experience the quality and convenience they can provide.
